ASKS LIFTING OF YEAR LIMIT FOR DRAFTEES

Chief of Staff Marshall Includes Reserves and Guardsmen

PLAN EMBODIED IN REPORT TO STIMSON

Removal of Hemisphere Restrictions Is Also Recommended

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 3.—General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, urged today that draftees, reserve officers and national guardsmen be kept in service longer than one year and asked removal of restrictions which confine the United States armed forces to the western hemisphere.

In a biennial report to Secretary of War Stimson, Marshall said that events of the "past few days are even more forcible indications of the suddenness with which armed conflict can spread to areas hitherto considered free from attack."

World Remove Restrictions "There are," he added, "legal restrictions on the use of the armed forces which should be removed without delay."

"It is urgently recommended that the war department be given authority to extend the period of service of the selective service men, the officers of the reserve corps and the units of the national guard."

The Selective Service Act called for a maximum of one year of military training for these groups. The act also stipulated that these groups could not be used outside the western hemisphere.

Up to F. D. R. and Congress "When and where these forces are to serve are questions to be determined by their commander-in-chief and the congress, and should not be confused with the problem of their readiness for service," Marshall told Stimson.

"All it is believed will admit that the time factor has been of dominant importance in the march of events since September, 1939, in the effect of the complete readiness of huge, highly trained units for employment in chosen theaters."

Marshall asserted that the 12-month service period of many now on active duty is nearly completed and asked, "must we replace most of the trained officer personnel of a division—the leaders—at the

More Committees Planned For October Apple Festival

Plans For Booths Being Drafted; Association Will Be Incorporated On Non-Profit Basis

Plans for Salem's first annual Apple Festival, set for Oct. 2, 3 and 4, will gain added impetus when the forthcoming holiday weekend is over, according to T. Emerson Smith and O. E. Anderson, co-chairmen of the festival organization.

Additional committees are to be appointed. Plans for the display booths which will form the chief physical feature of the festival are now being drawn up and the contract for their construction is expected to be let by mid-July.

A detailed map of the proposed festival area in Salem's business section is being drawn to show the exact location of every department. In fact, practically all preliminary arrangements for the event are expected to be made by July 15.

Robert Campbell has been assigned the task of drawing up the construction plans for the display booths. The booths, to be built in sections of 12, will be of a collapsible type in order that they may be taken down and stored from year to year. They will be of wood-framework covered with awning cloth, according to tentative plans. From 150 to 200 individual booths will be built.

The job of mapping out the festival area and determining just where the booths will be located and how many will be necessary has been turned over to a committee headed by George Glogan. As soon as the report is available will be able to draw up a complete budget based upon the estimated receipts from the sale of booth space.

Another task which is due to be completed shortly after the holiday weekend is the incorporation of the festival association. According to members of the committee in charge, an application for incorporation on a non-profit basis will be ready for filing with the secretary of state within the next 10 days.

DELAY STREET WORK UNTIL AFTER 4TH

Work of improving N. Ellsworth ave. is being delayed until after the July 4th weekend so as to not impede traffic, it was explained today by C. F. Zimmerman, chairman of city council's streets, alleys and sidewalks committee.

Zimmerman said he thought it would be unwise to tear up sections of N. Ellsworth ave. (Route 45) at a time when considerable holiday traffic is expected.

When the repairs start, probably the first of next week, service department workers also will smooth out a rough spot on W. State st. near the intersection of S. Ellsworth ave.

Target Is Set Up For Country Club Archers

As an added attraction for Country club members and guests over the Fourth of July weekend, an archery range has been set up by Rev. Fr. Herbert Cook.

The range is just north of the tennis courts. Much interest has been shown in the sport, Fr. Cook says, and many are expected to enjoy the target facilities during the weekend holiday.

Archers will provide their own bows, arrows, etc.

TARDY REGISTRANT DOESN'T READ MUCH

Thomas C. Tasker, 24, of E. B. I. Homeworth, in appearing today before the Salem draft board as a tardy registrant, said he didn't learn of the nation's second "R-day" until yesterday.

The youth, who is employed at a Canton foundry plant, said he seldom read the newspapers or listens to the radio.

WHEELER, NYE DEMAND PEACE

Urge FDR to Make Fourth of July Occasion for Negotiations Plea

WASHINGTON, July 2.—President Roosevelt was urged today by two foes of administration foreign policy to make a Fourth of July plea for a negotiated peace in the European war.

Senators Wheeler (D-Mont) and Nye (R-ND) voiced the opinion that the President's Independence day address to the nation would give him "an appropriate opportunity" for such a message.

A third administration critic Senator Taft (R-Ohio) expressed himself in favor of having Mr. Roosevelt explore possibilities, but thought this should be done without publicity.

See Opportunity Time The three senators, in separate statements, took the position that, thanks to the unexpected Russo-German conflict, the time was ripe for Great Britain to secure a favorable peace with the axis.

There was no expectation here, however, that the Wheeler-Nye-Taft suggestions would be acted on. Administration officials repeat.

Draft Board Kept Busy Issuing Vacation Visas

A great number of Salem residents apparently plan to be in Canada over the July 4th weekend. The draft board alone has issued temporary visas to 50 men of draft age who must have permission to leave their country before the U. S. border patrol will allow them to proceed into Canada. The draft board office in the Memorial building was jammed at noon today by last-minute permit seekers.

The board regularly issues the permits to engineers of the Salem Engineering Co. and the Electric Furnace Co., who make innumerable business trips to Canada.

Mechanized Advance In Ukraine Said to Have Been Halted

(By Associated Press) BERLIN, July 3.—A few hours after the German high command declared today that resistance of the Red army apparently had been broken, DNB, official German news agency, told of "obstinate resistance" and bad weather on the eastern front.

The agency said the weather was affecting the fighting. In the region of Lwow, in Russia's Polish buffer zone, DNB said, even snow had been reported.

The high command said that a German attack was under way on the entire front from the Arctic ocean to the Black sea.

The Prut river, boundary between Rumania and Sovietized Bessarabia, has been crossed by allied German-Rumanian forces driving from Moldavia, the war bulletin said, and they are advancing toward the Dniestr river.

"While hitherto, the Soviet Russian leaders apparently tried to catch the German advance near the border and starts its own offensive," the communique asserted, "it now appears that resistance of the Soviet army is broken."

"Backward movements of the enemy have become apparent on the entire front."

"The destructive battle east of Bialystok, in general, is concluded."

Reds Claim Victories

MOSCOW, July 3.—The vanguard of Moscow-bound German invaders was reported by the Russian high command today to have been thrown back in repeated attempts to cross the Berezina river where in 1812 the waters were reddened by the blood of Napoleon's men under harassed retreat from the Russian capital.

Nearly 300 miles to the south of Borisov, where the Battle of the Berezina centered, the Red army also was reported to have halted in "a heavy defeat" a mechanized advance toward Shepetovka, some 20 miles inside the old border of the Ukraine on the road to Kiev.

Other parts of the Ukraine invasion forces were said to have attempted a break-through to the south toward Ternopol, east of Lwow and south of Luck, still in the Ukraine's Polish buffer zone. These forces apparently had veered southward from Luck.

"Throughout the whole night our troops in heavy fighting stemmed the advance of enemy troops," a communique said.

AIR FROM ARCTIC BREAKS HEAT WAVE

(By Associated Press) Mass of cool, dry air from the polar regions spread over Ohio today, breaking the state's worst heat wave of the year and assuring pleasantly moderate temperatures for Fourth of July celebrations.

The soothing air moved in last night on the heels of thunderstorms that struck in scattered sections of the state. The mercury was expected to stay in the vicinity of 80 today, compared with above 90 degree heat Ohioans have endured for seven days.

It was 90 or more in most sections of the state yesterday, and five more deaths were attributed to the weather. Four persons drowned and one was killed by lightning.

Two of the drownings occurred in the Cleveland area. Fred Cassans, 16, died in Geauga Lake, and Miss Pearl Heft, a Painesville nursemaid, drowned in a private swimming pool at Kirtland.

Two others died at Zanesville. Louis B. Miller, 19, was killed by lightning, and 15-year-old Raymond Logan was drowned in a creek.

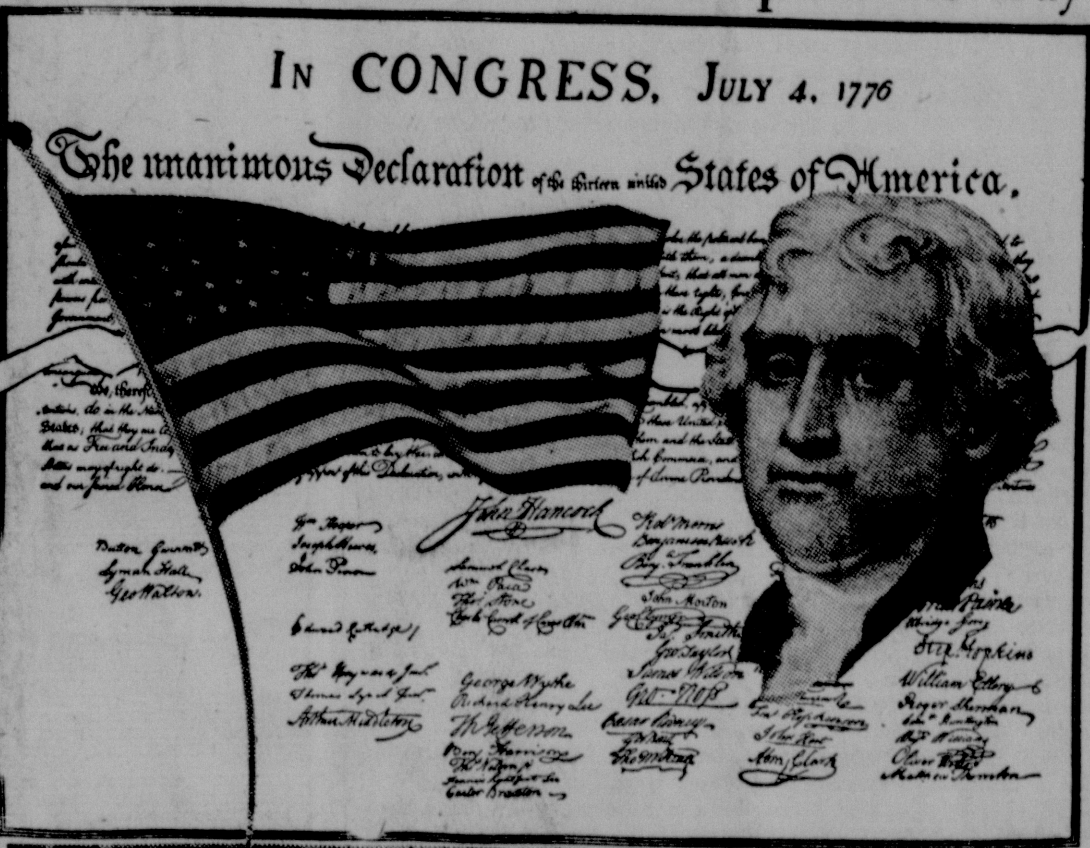

The fifth victim was 10-year-old Betty Wagner of Findlay, drowned while wading in a quarry near Bluffton.

Independence Day, July 4, has a new significance this year as the United States again is near the brink of a war which has engulfed the European continent. The United States pauses to observe, nationally, the independence from England those many years ago, an England that today calls for, and is getting help from the group of colonies that became a world power.

STAMPS FOR FOOD RELIEF GO ON SALE

Series of Meetings Set Up At Which Program Will Be Explained

LISBON, July 3.—Relief food stamps were officially placed on sale in Columbiana county Wednesday, when $10,000 worth of the orange food stamps and $5,000 worth of surplus commodities stamps were received here and checked by Auditor Ross Tisher and H. A. Moore, manager of the county stamp office.

The orange stamps are in booklets of $2, $3, $8, $10, with blue surplus food stamps in the back of the book to the value of 50 per cent of the orange stamps.

The stamps are now available to persons receiving aid for the aged, pensioners, aid for the blind, aid for dependent children, or soldier's relief. The relief departments of East Liverpool, Wellsville, East Palestine and Salem will change over to the stamp plan July 16 when it will be placed in effect for direct relief. Because of the numerous changes to be effected, the plan will not be placed in operation in the county relief area until Aug. 1, after which all direct relief clients will be issued food stamps either through the main office in the court house here or through one of the seven sub-stamp offices in the townships comprising the county relief area.

Literature, including an identification card, will be distributed.

Quit Jobs to Aid Hubbies, Then Seek Compensation

As a sidelight on the draft program, the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation is discovering some instances of where working wives quit jobs, hoping to obtain draft deferment for husbands, and at the same time try to collect unemployment compensation.

In such cases, says Arthur S. Johnston, manager of the Salem Employment Security Center, the wife files a claim for unemployment benefits, giving some other reason for quitting her job. Discovery of such misrepresentation usually comes, Manager Johnston explains, when the wife is asked to take another job obtained for her through the Employment Security Center.

A married woman who voluntarily leaves a place of employment and refuses to take another suitable job is not eligible for unemployment compensation.

DEFENSE ORDERS KEEP PLANT BUSY

The Salem Engineering Co. has been working on large defense orders amounting to one million dollars, for special equipment for processing metallic components for small arms ammunition.

These units are being distributed to plants at St. Louis, Lake City, Mo., and Denver.

Late Wednesday the federal government released to the Salem firm orders totaling $2,012,177 for additional equipment to be used in small arms ammunition plants strategically located in the United States.

President S. F. Keener announced that the engineering company is busy on many other contracts for the manufacture of ordnance for the present defense program. The plant on S. Broadway has been expanded to several times its former size.

The program would make the lot of a taxpayer seemingly a little less painful and reward him with a small rebate for paying in advance.

Could Budget Payments

From the taxpayer's point of view, the advantage would be that he could budget the heavier new income taxes now pending in congress by paying small payments each month in advance of tax collection dates. For these advance payments, he would receive a small premium—expected to be slightly under 1 per cent.

The treasury, meanwhile, would be getting its money ahead of time and would thus be able to curtail some of its borrowing.

The plan was worked out by the treasury in cooperation with the federal reserve system and with the advice of Lauchlin Currie, administrative assistant to the President.

Here is how it would work: Suppose you figure out in advance that next March 15 you will owe Uncle Sam $500. That might be an inconvenient sum to pay all at once. Therefore, you go to your favorite bank and buy—for instance—a $50 certificate every month from now until the tax

Taxpayer Would Be Given Small Rebate For His Co-operation

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, July 3.—The treasury department today completed formulation of a plan for collecting income taxes as much as a year in advance.

The program would make the lot of a taxpayer seemingly a little less painful and reward him with a small rebate for paying in advance.

SOVIET CHIEF ASKS DRIVE TO STEM GERMANS

Warns People, In Radio Talk, That They're Facing "Grave Danger"

WON'T YIELD FOOD, SUPPLIES TO NAZIS

Everything to Be Destroyed In Case of Retreat Before Invaders

(By Associated Press) MOSCOW, July 3.—Premier Joseph Stalin called upon the Russian people today to meet the advancing German armies with a vast "scorched earth" policy and with universal guerrilla warfare.

He warned his people they were menaced by a "grave danger" and acknowledged that already Adolf Hitler's legions have captured Lithuania, most of Latvia, Western White Russia and part of the western Ukraine.

But, he cried, it was recognized at home and abroad "that ours is a just cause, that the enemy will be defeated, that we are bound to win."

Lays Down Rules

Speaking in his role as chairman of the new defense committee, a post he only recently assumed, Stalin laid down these rules for fighting:

"In case of a forced retreat of Red army units, all rolling stock must be evacuated, the enemy must not be left a single engine, a single railway car, not a single pound of grain or a gallon of fuel. All valuable property including non-ferrous metals, grain and fuel which cannot be withdrawn must without fail be destroyed."

"In areas occupied by the enemy, guerrilla units, mounted and foot, must be formed. Diversionist groups must be organized to conduct warfare everywhere, to blow up bridges, roads, damage telephone and telegraph lines and to set fire to forests, stores and transports."

"In occupied regions conditions must be made unbearable for the enemy and all his accomplices. They must be hounded and annihilated at every step."

Hear Stalin's Voice

The speech, broadcast at 6 a. m. (10 p. m. Wednesday E. S. T.) and repeated at intervals during the day, on public loudspeaker systems and on house radios, marked the first time the Russian people had heard Stalin's voice since 1936 when he announced the constitution.

He expressed gratitude to Britain and to the United States and referred to the people of Europe and America as "loyal allies."

"Our war for the freedom of our country," he said, "will merge with the struggle of the people of Europe and America for their independence, for democratic liberties."

"In this connection, the historic utterance of British Prime Minister Churchill regarding aid to the Soviet Union and the declaration of the U. S. A. government signifying readiness to render aid to our country, which can only evoke a feeling of gratitude in the hearts of the peoples of the Soviet Union, are fully comprehensible and sympathetic."

HOLDUP SLAYING BELIEVED SOLVED CANTON, July 3.—Solution of the holdup-slaying of Robert Efinger, Canton cafe proprietor, was believed imminent today by local police after witnesses identified a 26-year-old wounded convict as one of two men who killed Efinger May 16 and escaped with $13,800 in cash.

Detective Captain E. E. Clark said the suspect was identified yesterday in Cleveland's City Hospital by witnesses to the sensational gun fight in which Efinger died trying to prevent the bandits from seizing money he had drawn from a bank to cash defense payroll checks of his cafe customers.

The suspect, Clark said, was wounded in Detroit on June 13 as he fled an attempted hold-up there. He was admitted to the Cleveland hospital after attaches found him lying on the hospital lawn the morning after the Detroit shooting.

Clark said the wounded man also "resembled" one of two men who robbed Stone's grill here of $3,400 June 6.

OPPORTUNITY

The record does not show how seriously to take members of President Roosevelt's cabinet when they make speeches. For the most part, the speeches they made before Mr. Roosevelt's address to the national last May 27 were a lot more inflammatory than the presidential utterance. Now, with another important address scheduled for July 4, at least two cabinet members, Secretaries Knox and Ickes, have gone the whole way. They have asked for belligerency.

"Such a golden opportunity (as the German attack on Russia) cannot be expected to come again," said Mr. Ickes at Hartford on June 26. "The American people must take their supreme choice, not tomorrow, but now. We have been living too long on borrowed time. This is where we come in."

Mr. Knox, speaking with even more authority as head of the navy department, which would be charged with opening belligerency, said to the annual conference of governors at Boston on June 30: "Now is the time to put in motion the huge machine we have been building since the war began. We can insure, beyond a shadow of doubt, the defeat of that pagan force and insure a victory for a Christian civilization."

These utterances leave no doubt about their meaning. The secretaries of the navy and the interior, speaking with the sanction of the chief executive, have recommended that the United States go to war immediately. They have reasoned and declared publicly that the unexpected German attack on Russia—the opening of an eastern front—leaves Germany's western front open to attack. On the supposition that Germany's western front includes the Atlantic ocean, the attack would be made by means of the United States navy. Raiding bases would be destroyed. Great Britain would be released from Germany's counter-blockade.

This line of reasoning holds that the first and probably the last big chance for a German upset in the war is the temporary weakening of Nazi air power on the invasion coast to strengthen the attack on Russia. It holds that the British are taking full advantage of this by recurrent day and night air raids and that the United States likewise should exploit the situation.

Specifically, the United States should use its Atlantic sea power, together with all available air power, to curb Nazi raiders and clear the way for aid to Great Britain. Then, if Russia capitulates and Germany is left free to undertake the destruction of Great Britain, the British will be better equipped for the climatic battle to resist invasion. On the other hand, if Russia can keep on fighting and bring about a stalemate, the British will be better equipped for the counter-attack which they ultimately must depend on to break Germany's domination of their island.

This is plainly a matter for the decision of the men who are charged with responsibility for national defense. The layman has no way of knowing whether Germany's war with Russia is an opportunity, or merely something that looks like an opportunity to Secretary Ickes, who has a habit of jumping at conclusions. If this is the decision to be explained in the President's Independence day address, America's participation as an active belligerent in World War II may be dated as of July 4, 1941.

INDEPENDENCE IS WORTH CELEBRATING

One of the things the embattled farmers and little tradesmen won with their independence from England was the right to make their own mistakes. They were free, and the Tories were tired too, of having their mistakes made for them by remote control in another country by a ruler who was none too bright and his advisers who were none too honest. They wanted political independence most of all, but they were interested in mental independence, too.

Before then and ever since it never has been hard to find plenty of learned and even celebrated persons who couldn't see much merit in independence of any kind. They were conspicuously evident during the Revolution, and they haven't given up the ship yet. It is their idea, and they feel they're right, that human beings shouldn't be pampered in what they call the illusion of independence.

It is the sort of thing that makes trouble, they say. Men, they explain, do not really want to be independent anyway. They don't know how to do things for themselves. Their failures make them unhappy. Man's natural state is to be ordered and regimented and paternalized. He is happiest when someone else is doing his thinking for him. So say the scoffers at independence.

Ever since the faraway days when Americans began to talk of independence from England and later to think about the finer points of being independent—things like the guarantees in the Bill of Rights—these things have been argued back and forth. Independence and freedom and liberty and human dignity and a lot of other words and phrases have been thrown about recklessly and sometimes not very accurately.

The tide of discussion has ebbed and flowed. Independence days, which Americans can still celebrate by blowing off their heads if that's their idea of fun, have come and gone. There has been war and there has been peace. But it may be doubted if circumstances ever conspired quite so completely before to reveal to all Americans what a precious thing it was that those tattered men won away back there when they decided independence was worth dying for.

Aside from the fact that they disagree on every essential point, the official communications issued by Germany and Russia are practically in accord.

Two bandits who padlocked a tavern before robbing it may have learned their technique during the prohibition era.

THE HOLIDAY spirit is greatly enhanced if not inspired and stimulated by a most propitious chain of planetary configurations. It is a most beneficent moment for the young and gay-hearted, to seek pleasure in the happy and warming cooperation of its fellows, old and young, whose spirits will incline to rise to fine heights of enthusiasm, patriotism and other forms of generosity and magnanimity. While business flourishes and opportunity knocks, the spirit of festivity and good fellowship dominate. Beware slight accidents and dangers.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should be on the eve of a year of insistent opportunity, with the assurance of the highest of fulfillments in attaining cherished goals and the most glowing culminations in securing the delights of hearts' desires. This applies to both old and young although the latter find unusual advantage and encouragement. Friendship, love, achievement, popularity, perhaps renown, knock at the door of all worthy and generous objectives. Push decisively for place, promotion and happiness, wherever desired.

A child born on this day should be excellently endowed for a successful, happy and influential life. It will have a generous, warm and expansive nature, with prestige and popularity.

A news dispatch says: "Governor O'Daniel of Texas, proposes a Texas Army, a Texas Navy and a Texas Air Force." Seems like he wants the whole shootin' match.

The headlines in one of our exchanges say: "Beer Re-elected To Bar Group." It's almost too hot to realize that the reference is to a New York association of lawyers.

Though the worst never happens, every day brings its forecast of dire doings.

CLENEDING SOUNDS WARNING

July Fourth Fatalities Bespeak Caution

By LOGAN CLENEDING, M. D.

This time tomorrow night, if the record of the past few years is maintained, from five to ten of our fellow citizens in the United States will be dead or fatally injured.

Dr. Cleneding will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

They will be killed from the effects of high explosives, just as much as if they were in a bombing raid in one of the war-stricken countries. But all the deaths are preventable.

Of course our Fourth of July injuries and mortalities are not as great as they once were. The extent of the slaughter and maiming that went on in the early part of the century caused such an indignant outcry of public opinion that measures were taken to stop it.

The Journal of the American Medical Association published statistics annually listing the casualties of the Fourth, but in 1916 this report was discontinued because they had diminished to such an extent as to be negligible.

Reports Renewed
In 1937 these reports were renewed, because there had been a gradual increase in injuries to the extent that the Association felt that it was again necessary to give warnings. So the appeal I make today for precautions is not outdated.

In 1940 there were eight deaths as a result of Fourth of July injuries. Two little girls were burned to death from very innocent appearing little sparklers setting fire to their flimsy dresses. One man was killed when a high explosive went off in the back of the car he was driving and startled him so that he lost control and wrecked the car, injuring other occupants.

There were 4,140 injuries on July 4th, 1940. Fifteen of these were the loss of one or both eyes. This is an improvement on 1939 when there were nineteen. Thirty-eight injuries in 1940 were of the loss of a finger or other member.

Supervise Children
There were two cases of lockjaw. The use of anti-tetanus serum in all burns or lacerated wounds has reduced the incidence of lockjaw greatly.

The most harmless appearing little fireworks can produce serious injuries—burn to the eye and extensive body burns. No form of fireworks can be called "harmless." Children should not be left alone to their own devices on this our natal day.

I hope my readers are too intelligent to require warning against the example of the man who held a lighted giant firecracker in his mouth "on a bet," he lost. Legislation is, of course, necessary, but legislation alone will not accomplish one hundred per cent results. New Jersey has had a mounting list of injuries since its legislation was passed. Aroused and alert public intelligence alone will make the Fourth safe.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
D. S.—What is, and what is the cause of pendulous abdomen?

Answer: Pendulous abdomen is the result of weakness of the abdominal muscles plus a great accumulation of fat. Repeated pregnancies are often an initial cause. But the real trouble is overweight. A surgical belt will help disarrangeable symptoms. Abdominal exercises—lying on the back and raising the legs—and reducing weight are the best methods of treatment.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Cleneding has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Cleneding, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

SAN FRANCISCO—Mrs. Eileen Buchanan's husband bought a shotgun and told her to "blaze away" if she were ever disturbed when alone. She went into action but no trace of the intruder was found. It was suggested, though, he might have escaped through the hole shot in the favorite Persian rug.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

When the Englishman had disappeared among the banyan trunks, North faced Phedre.

"I must talk to you," he said with reassuring calmness. "Let us go this way." North led the darkly tinted girl through the garden and onto a wide stone terrace overlooking the ocean.

When both were seated on a coping, North began. "Mademoiselle, I am about to ask you a very simple question. Will you help me?"

For a long moment the Frenchwoman made no reply; then, "That depends."

"You know what depends. . . . many thousands, perhaps millions of human lives."

La Renore's face continued to look hard and blank. Desperately North pressed on: "I'm very serious. A terrible thing has happened. Honolulu may soon become another Sarajevo."

"What makes you think so?"

"That." He pointed to the volcano of reddened smoke. "Your presence, and the presence of certain other people. You see," he continued, in a matter-of-fact voice, "I know who you really are."

"And who am I?"

"You are Phedre Renore La Tour of the French Intelligence."

"How do you know that?"

"Because," he replied steadily, "I knew your husband, even before you hid. During the World War we worked together, though afterwards—"

She nodded promptly. "Mais oui, but he forgave you for that affair in Cuba. He always said you were the dearest intelligence officer on your side of the Atlantic."

"Then you knew me?"

"A tired smile flitted over the girl's carefully made-up features. 'You knew I did.'"

Far below the rush of the waves over the ragged coral formations made a mournful noise.

"Now," North pursued, "I must have help. I believe you and your government are friendly."

"Why should I help you?"

"For fairly obvious reasons. In a war between the United States and Japan, Russia could reestablish her lost supremacy in Manchuria. She could sell vast quantities of raw materials to Japan. Whether victorious or not, Japan would be financially exhausted and bleed white, and so fall an easy prey to the Soviets. I am very sure that the Red Russia does not want to see Red Russia become any greater."

"You argue well. I may say that we are friendly to America."

Phedre Renore was nervously clasping and unclasping her hands in her lap. "Tell me what you have guessed."

North pulled out a cigarette case, tendered one to his companion, and opened it.

"Abner Polk, Von Rentner, and your illustrious compatriot, Dunant, some time ago organized a company known as the Transpacific. Am I right?"

"That is true."

"They plotted to bring on a war between Japan and the United States. Right?"

This time she shook her head, and North hastened to amplify:

"I should say rather that Von Rentner and Dunant plotted war; Abner Polk, however, was led to believe that only a war scare would be created."

"Why do you think that?"

Beneath his scorched white linen coat North shrugged. "Because Polk himself told me so before dinner."

"Mon Dieu!" burst out the French agent. "Ah, but I am glad that, after all, he listened to me! Days and weeks I have pleaded with him!"

The American then demanded gently: "Tell me, just what is to happen when the Japanese fleet arrives at Honolulu?"

His hope perished stillborn when she cried with a bitter smile: "Unfortunately, that is the one thing I was not able to find out."

"Look here," he urged in French, as black figures loomed at the far end of the garden. "Try to think! Can't you remember anything that might give me a clue?"

Phedre Renore made a helpless gesture with her shapely hands. "Ah, if only I could help you! But, tens," her eyes widened. "I remember, yesterday on the terrace—she hesitated a little—'Abner was napping; talked in his sleep, said something like this: 'Wednesday night—thirteenth boat—work fast—Kauai!' She smiled apologetically. 'I am sorry it is not clear—but that is all I remember.'"

"Kauai?" North's straight black brows met in a puzzled frown. "What is that? All these Hawaiian names sound so much alike."

"It is an island which lies northwest of Oahu."

"Hum—the thirteenth ship?"

Into North's brain shot a sudden inspiration. "Now one last question. Please answer it, though I know it's personal. Why did you, Aristide La Tour's wife, become associated with Abner Polk? Why did you do it?"

"I would join the devil himself," she replied, "if I could avenge the murder of my husband. It was to Moscow that the Red Gorgon lured him—my Aristide. . . . Perhaps La Gorgone knew that they killed him by slow torture after she had promised him immunity, perhaps she did not."

Uncertainly, Phedre Renore's hand crept up to her throat and she suddenly blazed out: "Yes, it was"

At Ceremonies Dedicating Roosevelt Library

Dr. Samuel E. Morison, Judge E. A. Conger, President Roosevelt and son James

Climax to ceremonies at the dedication of the new Roosevelt library at Hyde Park, N. Y., came when trustees were sworn in by Judge E. A. Conger of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. While President Roosevelt and his eldest son, James, right, look on, Judge Conger swears in Dr. Samuel E. Morison, Harvard university professor, as one of the trustees, above.

I begged him, Bruce, I all but threatened him. But he wouldn't do so before dinner."

"And your Russian friend," the Englishman observed, "evidently took good care to prevent his telling you anything after dinner."

Flushing, North made no comment. Kilgour then asked about a cable previously received and North answered, "It was a copy of certain Navy Department orders."

"What were they—if that's not a secret?"

"Just a duplicate of instructions to the officer commanding at Pearl Harbor. . . . orders to foresee and to counteract any contingency that might provoke hostilities. Admiral Blackburn is to extend every courtesy to the visiting fleet. But—"

North's voice quivered a little, and Kilgour lost his weary manner. "But what?"

"But if the Japanese commit an overt act of any kind, every ship of the American cruiser squadron is to go into action, and to stay in action until the last enemy ship has surrendered or been sunk."

"Short, sharp, and to the point," commented the Englishman with a deep frown. "I'm sorry we've only one light cruiser in the harbor. But I fancy she will be on the right side if trouble comes. And there's our battle fleet at Singapore."

A brief silence fell while North flung his hopelessly scorched clothes into a corner and then indicated the third cablegram.

"There's more dangerous news," said he. "No—you can't read it—it's in code. It reports the main force of our Pacific fleet is no less than a day from Hawaii, and that a Japanese submarine division left Sasebo base five days ago."

"Headed where?"

"Ah, that's the rub—no one knows."

Sees Women Playing Vital Roles In War

NEW YORK, July 3.—A comely blonde who runs a cosmetics business but who knows a thing or two about aviation sees American women in vital air roles should this country go to war.

Back from a round-trip in which she became the first woman to pilot a bomber to Britain, Jacqueline Cochran said last night on arrival from Montreal:

"If this country goes to war every woman able to ferry airplanes inside the United States can free a man from this duty for actual combat."

William and Robert Entriaken, sons of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Entriaken, Salem, former star Columbiana High school athletes, have enlisted in the Army Air Corps, photography division and will be stationed at Oklahoma City for training.

SEASON'S NEW HATS HELP EXPRESS YOUR MOOD

Hats should reflect the mood of the wearer, stylists say. If a woman feels brave as she sets out to battle the world, she should wear a bravely colored hat, such as red. If her mood is tender and sympathetic as she goes to meet her best friend, her hat should be feminine and expressive of her mood. Pictured above are three examples of the stylists' latest creations, all with personality and modernness. The shiny black straw hat at right was made to be worn with a pompadour. It is secured to the head by putting bobby pins through the veiling. The head-hugging calot at left shows the growing popularity of the brief rounded brim. It is a perfect example of a hat that would be chic for the mature woman or the career girl. The white hat, center, is made of toyo and is a real double duty model which will give you that correctly costumed feeling whether you are in town or the country.

FAMOUS THEATER PRODUCER IS DEAD

NEW YORK, July 3.—Weakened by an appendectomy last March, Sam H. Harris, 69, one of the most successful theatrical managers and producers since the turn of the century, died in his apartment at 5:45 a. m. today.

Producer of such hits as "Dinner at Eight," "As Thousands Cheer," "I'd Rather Be Right," and a score of others, many of which were made into movies, Harris had visited his office only infrequently since the operation.

His condition became critical yesterday after pneumonia set in. At his bedside when he died were his third wife, Mrs. Kathleen Harris, and family and sister, Mrs. Albert Roberts, and family.

His first success was the production of "The Gay Morning Glories." Among the successful shows he produced independently were "Little Old New York," "Six Cylinder Love," Irving Berlin's "Music Box Reviews," "Rain," "Cradle Snatchers," "Cocanuts," "Animal Crackers," "June Moon," "Once In A Lifetime," "Of Thee I Sing," "Stage Door," "You Can't Take It With You," "Of Mice and Men."

The veteran producer, a native New Yorker, was thrown on his own resources when he was 11 and within six years had organized several entertainments. He was a partner in the theatrical firm of Sullivan, Harris and Woods before combining his talents with those of George M. Cohan, the actor. The latter association lasted from 1904 to 1920, and was resumed in 1936.

COAL OPERATORS CONTINUE FIGHT

Want Stoppage Declared Strike; Lose Benefits Battle

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, July 3.—Ohio coal operators, defeated in their two-year battle to prevent payment of benefits to miners idle during the 1939 shutdown, were reported today anxious to continue a fight to have the stoppage declared a strike.

The Ohio supreme court put an end to the benefit payment controversy yesterday, dismissing an appeal by the Lorain Coal and Dock Co. and 22 other operators, from Franklin county court decisions refusing to restrain the payments.

H. C. Atkinson, director of the bureau of unemployment compensation, said the tribunal's action closed the benefits dispute, but added:

"The operators, however, will undoubtedly continue their attempt to have the stoppage ruled a strike."

He said that should they succeed, it would mean they might escape probable increases in their contributions to the insurance fund under the bureau's merit system.

Not on Strike, Ruling

The court held in a previous appeal that the miners were not on strike when they stopped work during negotiations for a new contract in the bituminous field. However, 23 actions involving this question still are pending in common pleas court.

The miners already have received their benefits, the BUC mailing 6,500 checks for approximately $280,000 last week after the supreme court refused to continue a restraining order that had held up the awards.

In another decision yesterday, the tribunal ordered Secretary of State John E. Sweeney and the Athens county board of elections to appoint a Republican as clerk of the board to replace a Republican who resigned.

The board had split two-and-two over an appointment, Republicans backing Rudolph J. Isellestein and Democrats favoring Mrs. E. J. Shannon. Sweeney, casting the deciding ballot, voted for Mrs. Shannon.

In a mandamus action, Athens county Republicans contended the new clerk should be of the same political faith as the resigned, and the supreme court agreed.

Upholds Tax Department

In another ruling, the court held that the state tax department had acted in good faith in abolishing a branch superintendent in Cincinnati, balking efforts of Charles H. McCann of Upper Sandusky to compel the state department to reinstate him in the job.

The court also refused to grant William J. Tietje of Ada an order compelling city officials to sell $100,000 in revenue bonds for purchase and improvement of a water works system. Tietje had contended that a referendum on the bond ordinance was invalid because it hadn't been filed with the village mayor. The court held it valid, however, since it had been filed with the village clerk.

SHOWDOWN CALLED IN POWDER STRIKE

Deadline Set At 5 P. M., In Dispute at Alton, Ill., Factory

(By Associated Press)
The national defense mediation board called for a showdown by 5 p. m. today on a union recognition dispute which caused a strike threat at an important ammunition factory.
The board set that deadline for acceptance or rejection of its recommendation that the Western Cartridge company recognize the AFL-Chemical Workers union as collective bargaining agent for 550 men employed in the firm's smokeless powder division at Alton, Ill. The men have voted to walk out next Monday.

Hope to Prevent Stoppage
Defense officials at Washington were declared determined to prevent any interruption in ammunition production, which President Roosevelt stated only last Friday to be far behind schedule. Some official quarters believed that if necessary to avert a work stoppage, the President might order the plant taken over by the government. The plant has contracts for $8,468,000 worth of ammunition.

The National Labor Relations board has officially certified the union as the proper bargaining agency, but the company thus far has not recognized it as such.
The mediation board took the stand that a court test of the NLRB order would delay the issue to no purpose, contending that the NLRB certifications are not subject to judicial review.
A majority of 2,800 CIO United Automobile Workers voted to strike at two Cleveland plants of the White Motor company which are making scout cars for the army. No date for the strike was set. The union men have asked a wage increase of 10 cents an hour. The present minimum rate was reported to be 75 cents, the average $1.02 an hour.

Vacation For Miners
The nation's 450,000 soft coal miners began a five-day paid vacation today for the first time in history, but there was some question whether 150,000 of them employed in the southern Appalachian field would return to work with the remainder July 8. The CIO United Mine Workers have warned the southern coal operators wage conference that the men will not return to their jobs then unless the conference meanwhile signs a new two-year wage contract. The Eastern Coal, Ky. Coal Operators association, a member of the southern conference, reportedly was not ready to join in the pact.
The union announced that if a shutdown were called, mines of the Koppers company would be exempted. Koppers supplies Kentucky and West Virginia coal to a number of steel mills holding important defense contracts.

Canada Training Many Men As Aviators For Britain

By RUTH COWAN
OTTAWA, Ont., July 3 — (The Special News Service)—Every day new names are added to the roll call of aviators from many lands training in Canada to fight for Britain.
Canada has become the aviation training school for the British empire. To its flying fields, mushrooming overnight, are coming Englishmen, Scots, New Zealanders, Australians, Canadians and fledglings from the British possessions.

The flag of Norway flies with the Union Jack over "Little Norway", a training station for Norwegian refugees.
The output in trained pilots, observers and gunners is a military secret, but Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced recently that recruits for the RAF "have crossed to Britain in thousands and will continue to cross in ever-increasing numbers."
Canadian officials express confidence that by September—long ahead of schedule—the training plan will be operating at maximum speed. That means, they say, 2,500 air fighters a month.

Many American Volunteers
The number of American volunteers is not disclosed, but it is said that seven to ten per cent of those fighters who already have gone abroad came from the United States.

At one flying field, officials said, one-sixth of the students were Americans.
At another field, "Free French" were in training. There are others in training from Mexico, Argentina and Peru.
Prime Minister King described Canada recently as the focal point in the empire's billion dollar training effort to achieve supremacy in the air.
When the war was four months old, representatives of the commonwealth governments gathered at Ottawa and agreed upon an ambitious program. This British commonwealth air training plan is expected to be in full swing in a few months.

It is a vast enterprise undertaken jointly by Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand to "assure an inexhaustible supply of trained airmen to carry on, for years if need be, the war against the dictator nations."
The Canadian government is the administrator, and Canada is the main theater of training. Air training supplementary to this plan is carried out in the United Kingdom, Rhodesia, India, Australia and New Zealand.

83 Training Schools Planned
This plan calls for 83 training schools, and 66 are now complete, including two that opened this month. The remaining 17 are expected to be in operation by September.
The schools are divided into 3 initial training schools, 26 elementary flying training schools, 16 service flying training schools, 10 air observers schools, 10 bombing and gunners schools, 2 air navigation schools, 4 wireless schools, and several schools of specialized training.

The plan also calls for the necessary auxiliary establishments, such as recruiting centers, command headquarters, repair and equipment depots. In all, 116 units spread throughout Canada with nearly 100 airbases and 1,880 buildings.

It has been estimated that the paved runways, when completed, will equal 800 miles of highway. The staff required for instruction, administration and maintenance has been set at 40,000.

The Canadian government is bearing the cost of construction—nearly $600,000,000. The United Kingdom is providing most of the aircraft and other training equipment. All costs are shared by the four participating governments.
Seventeen recruiting centers have been set up, and Group Cap. W. A. Curtis, commanding officer at the Uplands training station, says the air schools have more volunteers than they can train as fliers right weeks of signalling by wireless and signal lamps, and studying air armament. Four weeks of practical air gunnery at a bombing and gunnery school make him ready for the final step overseas.

The ground staff—technicians, mechanics, instructors and administrative personnel—are trained at a variety of technical schools. Students selected as instructors are given advanced training.

Used Private Commercial Flying.
In working out its plan, the government has used private commercial flying. Elementary flying training schools are operated by private companies sponsored by member clubs of the Canadian Flying Clubs association, under government contract.

Embryo navigators at the air observers schools are flown over courses they chart by competent commercial pilots.

The government thus utilizes existing commercial air fields, and, in the use of commercial pilots, releases military fliers for advanced instruction and active duty.

For administration purposes, Canada has been divided into four training commands, headquartered at Toronto, Winnipeg, Montreal and Regina.

American-made planes predominate.

Poloists Seek Undisputed League Lead In Two Games Here

BATTLE ALLIANCE AND AKRON TEAMS DURING WEEK-END

Riders Will Attempt To Break Deadlock With Zelienople Squad

Salem polo players with four wins under their belts in five starts, will attempt to break away from their first place tie with Zelienople and clinch the undisputed league lead by winning a tough two-game schedule here this week-end.

In their first encounter the smoothly clicking Salem outfit will take on their toughest league foe—Alliance. The two teams will meet tomorrow afternoon at Coy field on the N. Ellsworth Rd. in their second encounter of the year. The Salemites took the first game after a long uphill climb in which they burst forth with a seven goal rally in the fifth chukker to nose out their most bitter rivals, 11-9.

Both Lost Sunday
Both Salem and Alliance suffered defeats last week-end: Salem at North Hills, 7-3, and Alliance at Canfield, 4-3. The Salem defeat was caused in part by the nature of the rough and hilly Pittsburgh field which precluded fast, open play. Held in tight, the Salem riders seldom broke away in the long stroking drives and set-ups which have been a feature of their play here.

The Alliance defeat at Canfield came as the result of a four-goal handicap they played under, against the inexperienced team, and because of a desire on the part of Alliance to give the Lewis boys plenty of experience for future games with tougher foes. The boys will see little service here when hard-punching veteran Alliance players go out to avenge their earlier defeat.

Jim Pidgeon, Pete Votaw, Tony Sheen, Ray Moff, and Willie Smith will be seen in action for Salem.

Play Akron Sunday
Sunday's game here will be against the Akron Bar-K Cowboys, already twice beaten by Salem over Decoration day weekend. Both games, however, were close contests and a spirited game is forecast Sunday.

Wade Loop, general manager of the polo club, again called the attention of Salem fans to the new pre-game information service: in case of rain or threatening weather a call to 3621 will tell whether the fray has been cancelled.

Driscolls Win As Jackson Breaks Tie

Jim Jackson came in from right field in the last half of the eighth to pound out a base hit, go to second on an error, take third on a passed ball, and score on a single by Westfall to break a 3-3 deadlock between the Carrolls and Driscollwood in the only Class A game at Centennial park last night.

Therault, hurling for the winning Driscoll squad, allowed seven hits and struck out five batters. Six Carroll errors aided the winners. The Trades Class forfeited to Mullins in the other scheduled contest.

Mrs. B. Bomber Sues When Dinner Fails

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 3.—Two weeks after a dinner for which she said "I cooked everything he liked up hopes we'd catch things up," Mrs. Joe Louis has filed suit for divorce from the world's heavyweight boxing champion. She alleged extreme and repeated cruelty.

In the action, filed yesterday in circuit court, she said the famous Brown Bomber dealt her "a violent blow in the mouth with his hand" on Jan. 2, 1941, and "hit her in the face and stepped on her ankle" April 19.

"We separated after that last incident," said Mrs. Louis, the former Marva Trotter of Chicago. "But two weeks ago we had dinner together. I fixed everything he likes, but it just didn't work out."

Very Friendly, Really
"Joe and I are very friendly, really we are," she said, smiling. "We got along beautifully up to the first of the year. But Joe was just too busy for a family life—or at least he used that as an excuse. I guess his business just wasn't conducive to making a home."

Mrs. Louis, 24, asked restoration of her maiden name and temporary alimony. Informed of the suit, Louis appeared stunned, denied striking his wife, but said he would not contest the action.

He said they had had differences arising over her insistence that she accompany him to training camps and on exhibition tours.

They were married in New York Sept. 24, 1935, the night Joe knocked out Max Baer early in a career in which he won the heavyweight title from Jim Braddock in June, 1937, swept through 18 successful title defenses and earned almost $2,000,000.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, July 3.—(The Special News Service)—What's this about Jimmy Fox getting a cracked rib in a friendly wrestling match with Ted Williams in the Red Sox club house? The official announcement said Fox received a torn cartilage when hit by a ball.

But the grapevine says several of the Sox yelled "There goes the pennant," when Jimmy was pinned by Williams. Most promising girl golfer Patty Berg saw on her 50,000-mile tour was Louise Suggs of Olympia Springs, Pa. Maybe you noticed that when Joe DiMaggio broke Willie Keeler's record of hitting safely in 44 consecutive games, it happened exactly 44 years after Wee Willie posted the mark.

And old Bill Dahlen, former Cub and Dodger shortstop, who held the record (42 games) prior to Keeler, was in the Yankee stadium to see Joe turn the trick.

Sport Strays
Babe Ruth has holed in at Bretton Woods, N. H., for two weeks of golf. Dizzy Dean can't make up his mind about that St. Louis shortstopper offer. Solly Krieger, now a heavyweight, has parted company with Manager Pete Reilly and is handling his own business.

The Puerto Rican sports commission has revoked the $25 fine and one-year suspension it slapped on Satchel Paige, great Negro pitcher, for "incivility" to an umpire.

Joe DiMaggio, One Of The Greats Of Baseball, Seeks "Triple Crown" Of Batting

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
Poker-faced Joe DiMaggio, the greatest player, excluding pitchers, in the present era of baseball, has reached his goal of a new all-time major league record for hitting in 45 consecutive games, and now can try shooting for another prize—the "triple crown of batting."

This bauble is the three-way championship in percentage hitting, home runs and runs batted in and is one of the most elusive batting honors in the game.

In the last 15 years it has been won only by the immortal Lou Gehrig, who, incidentally, is to be immortalized by the New York Yankees and fans in a ceremony in Yankee stadium before tomorrow's doubleheader. Gehrig captured all three in 1934 when he hit .363, collected 49 home runs and batted in 165 tallies.

Ruth Failed
Babe Ruth was never able to hit this target. Rogers Hornsby did it twice in the National league in 1922 and 1923.

DiMaggio has a chance. His blow yesterday to break the 44-year-old mark of Willie Keeler for hitting in the most consecutive games was a sizzling home run, his 18th of the season, and preserved his leadership in this department.

In batting in three runs to help the Yanks rip open the Boston Red Sox 8-4 he also lifted himself with-in four "RBIs" of the league leader, teammate Charlie Keller, who hit his 17th homer in yesterday's game.

Joe's batting average of .348 is 53 points behind the 401 pace of Boston's Ted Williams, but their marks have been sliding closer together for weeks and DiMaggio, in boosting himself from a .303 percentage when his streak started May 15, definitely has come within range of the lead.

Sixth Straight
Yesterday's victory was New York's sixth straight and 20th in 24 games in a furious surge that has given the Yanks a lead of three full games over the Cleveland Indians, who were idle yesterday.

In the other American league tussles the Philadelphia Athletics clipped the Washington Senators 7-6 on Bob Johnson's 17th home run in the tenth inning and Detroit nosed out the Chicago White Sox 1-0.

In the National league the Brooklyn Dodgers punished the Phils for Tuesday's setback by taking a 9-3 decision and chopping the lead of the idle St. Louis Cardinals to half a game.

Pittsburgh beat the Cincinnati Reds 3-3 for Paul Derringer's tenth loss of the season, and the Boston Braves and New York Giants divided a doubleheader. Dick Erickson and Tom Earley shared the mound assignment in winning the first game, 5-4 and Bill Lohman retaliated with a 6-0 shutout in the nightcap.

Since they last played here the Bi-County league leaders have added to their roster: Bill York Yock, pitcher, and Frank Kozack, both of the Texas league and with minor league contracts; Joe Mar-done, former captain of the Notre Dame softball team who also has a contrast to play minor league ball.

The first game will begin at 1:30 p. m.

Tentative Hunting Regulations Stand
COLUMBUS, July 3.—No action has been taken here yet by the Ohio Conservation and Natural Resources commission to alter the standing of tentative measures governing hunting passed by the board several weeks ago.

Under the new regulations, still subject to change, the rabbit season will extend from Nov. 15 to Jan. 1, inclusive, with a daily bag limit of four, and the pheasant season will extend from Nov. 15 to 29, inclusive. The limit will again be two, or four in possession after the first day.

Hunting of raccoon with gun and dog will be from Nov. 15 to Jan. 15, inclusive, but a new regulation would provide that coon may not be trapped until Dec. 1.

The one major change will be the moving up of the squirrel season. Last year it extended from Sept. 25 to Oct. 10. In northern Ohio—an area bounded on the south by Columbiana, Stark, Wayne, Ashland, Richland, Crawford, Wyandot, Hardin, Auglaize and Mercer counties—the season this year will be from Sept. 22 to 30.

Patricia Morison, Fred MacMurray, Madeleine Carroll in a scene from "One Night in Lisbon" at the State tonight through Saturday.

"One Night in Lisbon", a comedy about an American cowboy turned aviator, and an English society girl turned chauffeur for government officials, shows at the State tonight through Saturday with Fred MacMurray and Madeleine Carroll in the featured roles.

In supporting parts are Patricia Morison, John Loder, Edmund Gwenn, Reginald Denny, and Billie Burke.

The picture deals with the aviator from Texas and the English beauty who meet in an air raid shelter and find their romance turned into a hunt for an international spy ring. It takes the American flier some little time to convince the staid English girl that an air raid shelter is as good a place as any to fall in love and when he has succeeded in getting her to go to Lisbon, out of the danger of the English capital, her fiancé turns up and disputes the American's right to an interest in the girl.

Before their affairs can be settled, she is sent to Lisbon by a government, kidnapped by spies who believe she carries government papers and the two men become allies to rescue her.

"I submit," Marshall said, "that the limitations referred to should be removed as quickly as possible if we are to have a fair opportunity to protect ourselves against the coldly calculated, secret and sudden action that might be directed against us."

The chief of staff also strongly urged immediate congressional action on legislation already before congress designed to vitalize the army leadership. He said the purpose was removal from active duty of "a few officers who slow down the development of our emergency army through lack of qualities of vigor and intelligent, aggressive leadership."

Summing up his recommendations, Marshall told Stimson:

"These proposals which the war department recommends for action by congress, have but one purpose: to permit the development of the national defense on the orderly and businesslike basis necessary in the face of the present situation that is to be met. Such a purpose does not admit of delay."

HORSEMEN MEET RAIN IN ILLINOIS

Two cards from Ted Lawton and Kenneth Taylor, roaming around southern Illinois on horseback, report all fine and well except for recent rains. Here are the cards:

"Dear Folks: We left Chatsworth, Ill., Monday and stayed at a farmhouse just out of El Paso.

"Just as we arrived at the farm it started to rain and blow and we were caught in the barn.

"We saw cars from Ohio and some of the people waved as if they knew us.

"We had several storms in the last few days but it was hot as ever.

"Ted, Ken."

"Dear Folks, We made 26 miles today. Last night before we left El Paso we stopped and had Chief and Blue Boy shod. They are the horses.

"We are both fine. It is still hot, though.

edly have stressed their conviction that a negotiated peace at this time would be equivalent to a Hitler-dictated peace, and that this government had no desire to be a party to any such settlement.

Nevertheless, Wheeler argued that although German armies might conquer territory, the diverse nationalities and conflicting interests of subjugated nations would cause Hitler's system to "crack and crumble."

Nye declared that "American independence day would be a grand time for the President to insist upon Britain and Germany undertaking negotiations for peace."

Taft would ban publicity. Taft's opinion was that negotiations would have a better chance of success without publicity.

He said he did not believe this country "should force peace on Britain" but professed concern over the apparent determination of the administration to prevent peace.

"I don't think we can assume Hitler will be unreasonable," Taft declared. "The Russian war makes it more likely he will be reasonable. He might not want to retain control of Belgium, Holland and the other little countries, although he might want an European economic union. Maybe there ought to be such a union."

B-19'S SECOND HOP IS CALLED SUCCESS

(By Associated Press)

RIVERSIDE, Calif., July 3.—Highly pleased with a second test flight in the giant B-19 bomber, Maj. Stanley M. Umstead said today he is confident the new 41-ton flying laboratory could take off and land at almost any airport in the country.

Umstead, chief army test pilot, wheeled the huge $3,500,000 craft through southern California skies for 90 minutes yesterday at altitudes ranging up to 10,000 feet. A thousand spectators watched the takeoff from nearby March field.

Afterward, Umstead described the bomber's flight as "a perfect performance." It took off after only a 17-second run and, upon landing, stopped within 1500 feet.

During the ship's second hop, Umstead carried out tests he did not attempt when he flew it to March field from its factory field at Santa Monica, 75 miles away, last Friday.

Several times he fully extended and then retracted into the belly of the plane the heavy eight-foot wheels and the remainder of its massive landing gear. He said they worked fine.

Umstead also was pleased with new adjustments to the controls. Mechanics had removed some of the super-sensitiveness of the plane which, on its maiden flight, caused the pilot to over-control. This produced a slight wobbling at intervals in the wings.

The bomber is scheduled to remain here for additional tests for about 60 days. The next tentative test is set for Tuesday. Later, it is to be flown to Wright field, Dayton, O., where it formally is to be taken over by the army if all tests are satisfactory.

Pass Out Gas Tax Profits

COLUMBUS, July 3.—The treasury of each of Ohio's 88 counties was enriched $10,000 today by a distribution from the state gasoline excise tax fund.

BLACKOUT USED IN ARMY EXPERIMENT

CLEVELAND, July 3.—In the absence of official enlightenment, residents of a small section on the eastern edge of metropolitan Cleveland were still figuratively in the dark today over their two short voluntary blackout periods.

The army and the General Electric Co., mentioned in a circular to the residents, kept silent on the nature of the experiment.

For the last two nights, citizens in an area two miles square around Route 422, including parts of the villages of Pepper Pike, Moreland Hills and Chagrin Falls, kept all lights from showing between 11 p. m. and 2 p. m.

Tuesday they received circulars from H. A. Leisenheimer, mayor of Moreland Hills, saying General Electric would sponsor an experiment Tuesday night "with the United States army air division."

"There will be signaling devices tried out with planes at a great height. Also one plane will roar down the boulevard at a speed of 400 miles per hour quite near the ground."

The circular called for a "complete blackout," with "not even a cigarette glow" showing.

Yesterday another circular from the mayor heralded last night's test. As before, Route 422 was blocked off, there were planes overhead—some said it sounded like five or six circling around—electrical engineers and army trucks were seen.

The second circular said "We have been commended by Capt. (Warren S.) Everett, who was in plane No. 3, soaring 5,000 feet above the ground," and added in a postscript that "Capt. Everett advises we had as nearly a perfect blackout as was possible, and the best cooperation of any experiment in which he had taken part."

ADVANCE PAYMENT OF TAXES STUDIED

deadline. In nine months you will have $450 worth of certificates.

That would leave you with only $50 to dig up on the tax date. However, it wouldn't be quite that much for the treasury would allow you a few dollars rebate as a reward for paying in advance. The treasury figured it could afford such an inducement because prepayment of taxes will eliminate temporary borrowings which cost money.

While designed primarily for income taxes, officials said the plan would be applicable, if the treasury chose, to excess profits, some excises and other forms of taxation.

The house ways and means committee completed work yesterday on the rough draft of the big new defense tax measure by tentatively approving drastically increased income, corporation, estate, gift and excise taxes which were estimated to produce $3,504,400,000—$4,400,000 more than the original goal.

Protest Excess Wheat Tax

CANTON, July 3.—A protest against the 49-cent penalty tax on excess wheat will be considered Tuesday at a meeting of farmers from Stark and surrounding counties. Russell Kiko, president of the group organized to oppose the penalty, announced. Kiko said the protest would be based on the fact that farmers had planted their wheat before the market quotas were established in a nationwide referendum May 31.
